Hi Jenni,

Are you on the road? Aly was here to talk about The Journal and I asked if she was going to team up with Jenn on a story as you and I discussed.

She mentioned you were going to be out for a couple of weeks.

Thanks,

Dave

I'm away until 4/15.

As I mentioned, Altus reporting agenda lies o. Her capacity to pitch a story and/or to approach Jennifer to latch on to her story.

As I mentioned to you, Aly has not been able to enterprise story ideas throughout her internship despite repeated attempts to nurture such outreach.

Here to chat if our like.

J.

I was just surprised because I thought you were hunkering down (Wisconsin winter phrase) here during the writing phase. We like having you around!

If you recall, this is the trip I mentioned to you week ago in which I will speak about my essay (to be published Friday in CJR) about the state of Indigenous journalism. I'll be giving remarks at Cornell, Columbia, the Society of Environmental Journalists-SW Chapter, and the American Indian Arts Institute, to name a few. Later this month I'll be entering my report as part of formal documentation to the 17th annual convening of the UN Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues in mid-April.

This work is vital to supporting my O'Brien investigation in terms of maintaining my visibility and relevancy in the Indigenous media space.

I hope this clarifies any confusion about my agenda.

Jenni

I'd like to make a time to talk tomorrow if you can, Jenni. The essay-related work is not for O'Brien and it's been a lot of time at the crunch time of the fellowship.

Sure Dave. I'm happy to reiterate my O'Brien project management with you again as well as offer any further transparency around my essay.

I have a Skype scheduled with my students around 10:30 AM Central and will be out of pocket after 3 Eastern.

Please message me a time you'd like to connect.

Great, it's that time of year when I'm seeing we have only weeks left! My late morning looks promising. I'll text you.

Earlier would be better for me.
Like now or within the hour?
Hope that can work.
